

GULPY NEWS:

Gulpy

Hello Oaks,

Here is a Gulpy update. Scarlett has now grown to be twice the size of Gulpy and every so often she will chase him around the tank for five minutes (just like she did when she first met him).

But.....recently Gulpy has been following a pattern: once a month it is as if he decides to teach Scarlett a lesson and HE chases HER around the tank but ALL DAY LONG!

Ali-B says that it is very funny to see a much smaller fish chasing a much larger fish up...down...left...right...all over the tank!

Scarlett even tries to hide under the water filter, but he follows her, then nudges and nudges her until she starts swimming again. He then takes up the chase at top speed.

When the day is over, they are best friends again.

Any ideas why he's doing this once a month Oaks?

Are any of your parents secret goldfish enthusiasts who can explain his behaviour? Let me know what you think! Bye for now, from Ms. P.
