

Friday 1st May 2020

Good Morning Oaks

It's Friday! I hope you have all worked your socks off this week and are ready for a well-deserved break. I received more fabulous photos of home learning and activities yesterday and the home learning gallery is now up and running so keep sending them in.

Here are your activities for today (you can do them in any order).

- Joe Wicks PE (don't miss 'dress-up Friday'!)
- Reading for 20 minutes – STILL THE MOST IMPORTANT!
- English

One last day to finish your non-chronological reports before the start of the new writing genre next week. If you have already finished, Ms Pickard has set some more English skills tasks for Y3 and Y4 and Y5 and Y6 can continue their revision.

- Maths

You will find today's maths tasks on the website. I have also sent login details to the Y4 parents for Sumdog, which is an interactive resource with lots of games for practising maths (and spelling). Y4, you are the guinea-pigs (I'm trying it out on you) so let me know if you like the games and activities I have set and I will send login details for the rest of the year groups next week.

- Art

Last week, I asked you to look at images on Greek pottery and to sketch the patterns and figures. This week I would like you to design your own plate or vase. I have posted the images again and some templates of vases but feel free to draw your own. Try to include some of the meander patterns around the edges and a scene depicting life in Ancient Greece or a scene from one of the myths or legends. Look carefully at the faces, the hairstyles, the clothing, the animals and the objects that the figures are holding. You will also need to decide whether to choose a black background with figures and patterns in a clay colour or a clay- coloured background with black patterns and figures. I would love to see photographs of your finished designs.

Have a lovely weekend and stay safe,

Miss Bamber