

Friday 12th June

This is the day to begin your final write.

Your aim is to pretend that you are Icarus writing from prison after re-capture, telling your best friend all about your adventure flying to close to the sun. Remember to include some of the words in your own skills spelling focus from this week.

Y4+y5+6 need to make this an emotive letter. You are trying to make the reader feel your excitement, horror, panic, shame (see your planning notes).

Remember, that in all Greek myths the gods will punish any mortals who becomes too full of self-importance and believes that they are almost god-like themselves. At the end of the letter, make it clear that Icarus is sorry for offending the gods and for disregarding his father's advice.