

Monday 29th June 2020

Good Morning Oaks (from Ms. Pickard)

I hope you enjoyed the poetry workshop with Simon Mole last week. We found it fun in school and I have typed up some of our finished results so have a look!

I am really looking forward to seeing your finished Ancient Greek poems this week.

Here are your activities for today (you can do them in any order).

Joe Wicks PE (or another type of physical activity – go for a walk or do a Morning Mile run)

Reading for 20 minutes –Don't forget to do some reading. James and Frayer went on Gold on Friday for making so much progress in reading while they have been learning at home.

English

Listen to the sound-file and look at the poetry reference as I talk about what was important to me when I wrote a poem about Ancient Greece. Hopefully, this will help you as you plan your final poem today.

Maths

Year 5 are investigating adding mixed numbers today using White Rose maths

Year 6 have a variety of calculations (mental and written) to work through to complete a mathematical crossword.

Y3 and Y4 will find their tasks set by Miss Bamber (Y4 have the last part of their assessment to complete - Reasoning paper 2)

R.E.

Y5/6 are going to learn about Humanists views about the afterlife

Y3/4 will learn about the Christian belief of saving people who are on the wrong path.

Geography and Music

In geography today, Mrs Edgeworth would like you to finish your tourist information leaflet about Crete.

In music, there are tasks set for each year group that you can see if you login to Charanga.

Enjoy your learning.
