

Hello y5 and 6

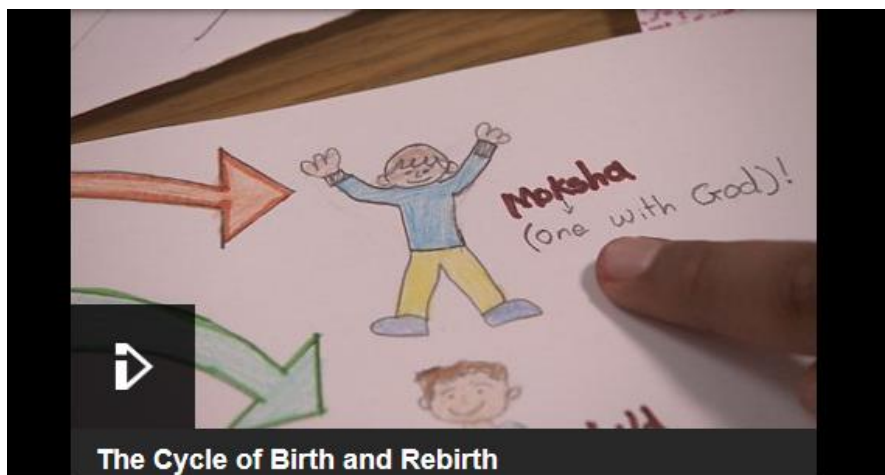

This afternoon we are going to learn about the Hindu belief of REINCARNATION where the human soul leaves the body behind at the point of death and the soul enters another body and lives on.

Karma is very important to Hindus. They believe that if they have lived a good life they will live on in another human body (be reincarnated) and will be rewarded with a good life.

If they have behaved cruelly to others Hindus believe that they will be reincarnated into a worse life, possibly even beneath a human...as an animal.

Now draw a picture of someone doing a good deed and an arrow to the life that they may be reincarnated into e.g someone with lots of caring friends and family.

Next draw a picture of someone doing a bad deed and an arrow to the animal and the hard life that karma would ensure they were born into in Hindu beliefs.
