Good Morning! I hope you are all well and finding time to have lots of fun.

Maths: Time to get active with Supermovers and practise your 3x table.

Make sure that you have completed any unfinished work from this week. Complete the attached worksheet, it is consolidation, reasoning and problem solving questions of things that you have looked at this week. Cut out the questions and stick them into your Maths books and then answer the questions. Read them carefully.

English: Complete any unfinished work from previous days first.

PLAN: You will be writing a set of instructions for Red Riding Hood to direct her from her house to Grandma’s cottage through the wood.

First you need to draw a map. Decide what Red Riding Hood is going to pass on her way to help her get to Grandma’s house. Draw the map, and label the key places she is going to go past. Then write a list of bossy verbs you think you may need to help direct Red Riding Hood. Also think about time words that you may need to help with your writing eg first, then. Add them to your plan.

Geography: Attached is a sheet. Thinking about Osmotherley and the surrounding area, write/draw the physical and human features that you can see. Use satellite imaging to help. Write what physical and human features mean in Geography. In our area are there more human or physical features? Why do you think that is? Think about the environment we live in when writing your answer.

Remember to continue to share books and read with someone at home.
Have a fantastic weekend.

Mrs. Edgeworth
